THE HISTORY OF GLYCINE WATCHES

Founded in 1914 by Eugène Meylan in Bienne, Switzerland, Glycine has been a pioneer in watchmaking. Known for precision and innovation, Glycine gained recognition in the 1950s with the launch of the Airman collection, a favorite among pilots and travelers for its 24-hour dial and GMT functionality. Over the decades, Glycine has continued to blend tradition with modern technology, producing durable and stylish timepieces. Today, it remains a respected name in the world of luxury and aviation-inspired watches.
