THE HISTORY OF HEUER WATCHES

Heuer, founded in 1860 by Edouard Heuer in Switzerland, quickly established itself as a pioneer in precision timekeeping. The brand is renowned for its innovations, such as the introduction of the oscillating pinion in chronographs and the Mikrograph in 1916, the world's first stopwatch accurate to 1/100th of a second. Heuer gained prominence in motorsports, becoming the timekeeper for Formula 1 races and collaborating with legendary drivers like Ayrton Senna. In 1985, TAG Group acquired Heuer, resulting in the brand's rebranding to TAG Heuer, while continuing its tradition of avant-garde designs and cutting-edge technology.
